3. Penetration-Test Details & Exploitation Options

3.1 Test Details & Methodology

Target: 10.49.174.183 Scan ID: 20261008_143800 Date: 2026-10-08 17:37

Ports scanned: Top 1000 most-used ports of all 65535 (selection: top1000)

Network: nmap with version detection (-sV), default scripts (-sC) and the vulners NSE script; HTTP services were located via -sV and directory brute-forcing (gobuster dir) was executed against the detected HTTP port(s) rather than assuming port 80.

Web audit base URL (nmap-confirmed): http://10.49.174.183:3128

HTTP service(s) detected by nmap -sV:

- http://10.49.174.183:3128 service=http-proxy Squid http proxy 4.10
- http://10.49.174.183:3333 service=http Apache httpd 2.4.41

Nuclei template scan (DEFAULT active web scanner): enabled, 1 match(es), severity breakdown {'info': 1}

Rules of engagement: all steps above are non-destructive checks performed within the authorized scope of this assessment.

3.2 Exploitation Options (authorized verification only)

1. [MEDIUM] CVE-2023-38408 on ssh port 22 [unconfirmed]

Difficulty : Context-dependent

- Verify : Check the advertised version against the CVE advisory range.
- Verify : Run the matching Nuclei template in non-intrusive mode:
- Verify : `nuclei -u <service-url> -id <cve-id-lowercase> -severity critical,high`

2. [CRITICAL] CVE-2026-60002 on ssh port 22 [unconfirmed]

CVE attack surface: server Confidence: unconfirmed (banner-based)

Attack paths : Direct exploitation of the vulnerable service version; Pivoting from the exposed service into internal networks

Difficulty : Varies by CVE

- Verify : Check the advertised version against the CVE advisory range.
- Verify : Run the matching Nuclei template in non-intrusive mode:
- Verify : `nuclei -u <service-url> -id <cve-id-lowercase> -severity critical,high`
- Verify : Metasploit auxiliary/check modules only where the RoE explicitly allows.
